The John and Alice Harney Endowment

The John & Alice Harney Endowment was established to address the shortage of nurses and nursing faculty, and to support the growing programs at UNC Charlotte. Nursing was an area of critical importance to both Mr. and Mrs. Harney as they understood that as the community grew, so would the health needs of its citizens. With the help of this graduate nursing scholarship award, recipients will be positioned to mentor and teach the next generation of nurses and nursing leaders in the Charlotte region.

Award Amount: Approximately $3,000 per academic year

Award Criteria:

- Student must be admitted unconditionally to a graduate nursing degree program in the School of Nursing. Students must be in good academic standing in her/his degree program.
- Preference will be given to applicants who intend to reside in the Charlotte-Mecklenburg region.
- Preference will be given to applicants with aspirations to serve as a mentor or nurse educator.
- Scholarship awards are renewable if recipient continues to demonstrate that they are the best match for scholarship criteria out of the applicant pool.
- In the absence of qualified graduate nursing applicants, students from graduate programs within the College of Health and Human Services may be considered.

Application Procedure:

- Students should submit the Application Form to the CHHS Advising Center, College of Health and Human Services, Room 103. The application and reference forms are available on the Advising Center webpage. The form requires that students submit a current UNC Charlotte transcript.
- A one page statement describing their career aspirations.
- References from two faculty that address the Award Criteria.

Deadline for submitting application:
March 31